The Staleys of San Diego

Looking like the picture of domestic tranquility, the Staleys take time out for a family self-photo before returning to the knock-down drag-out brawl in which they had been involved just prior to this photo session.

Unleashing Your Canine Athlete

In their debut agility competition, Stella the Wonder Dog and her handler took two ribbons in the novice division and were only two seconds shy of a qualifying run. When the question of doggie steroid usage came up, Stella could only say "Woof, me?"

You Better Belize It!

From January 2-16 P&P will embark on a field trip sponsored by the Biology Department of Palomar College to a small country in Central American noted for it's ancient ruins, extraordinary scuba diving, and howler monkeys. They expect to do a lot of hiking, diving and howling.

School Daze & Cub Reporters

As of this writing, Patrick "JR" Staley turns 22 and he's nearly to the finish line. He's in his senior year at UC Irvine, majoring in history although his passion is writing. He's been mulling over an offer by the Laguna Beach Coastline Pilot newspaper as a reporter. Good work, Jimmy Olsen. "And don't call me Chief!"

Greetings of the Season
